DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Golibart-Lebrun House c. 1870-1890 is a 2½ story three bay by one room center hall frame house on Colora Road south of Colora. The house faces south with the primary gable running east/west.

The irregularly shaped house rests on a full granite foundation and is sheathed with horizontal weatherboard. The steeply pitched gabled roof is covered with composition tile shingle.

The south (main) facade is three bays across with the eastern bay projecting from the main house. The windows that light the bay projection are a double single pane sash on both first and second floor. The attic is illuminated by a double single pane sash gabled dormer. The front of the gable is covered with a vertical board sheathing. The entrance bay and adjacent western window is covered by a single story shed roof porch that stretches around to the west side of the main block. The second floor is lighted by a central 2/2 sash and a western double single pane window. The third floor has a larger double sash dormer with another double sash immediately to the east with a shed extension of the main roof. The front sheathing is a vertical and diagonal board.

The east side is one room deep with a later frame addition with block foundation.

The west side has a projecting cross gable and projecting bay which allows entrance into the kitchen. The window and door treatment remains basically the same as the main facade.

The interior of the house has been generally remodeled.

Farm structures that remain include a 1½ story central passage granary with side storage bins. An enclosed stair rises in the western bay to the second floor. A large frame bank barn with earthen ramp and bridge and cross gable entrance is situated west of the granary.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Golibart-LeBrun House is an example from the Queen Anne Architectural Period of the third to fourth quarter of the 19th century. A house is located on the property in 1877 but it is not certain whether this is the same structure or a later building on the same location. The ^{extreme} architectural exuberance of Queen Anne styling is not a characteristic of this house. What is characteristic is the general massing and irregular plan of the structure. Joseph Golibart is listed on the 1877 Atlas Patron List as owning 167 acres whose family came from Baltimore County around 1845.
